

Ryan Zeng

ryanzeng@berkeley.edu

(714) 916-8128

2650 Durant Avenue,
Cheney, Room 507,
Berkeley, CA, 94704

ryanzeng.design

Skills

Design

Human-Centered
Design
Adobe Creative Suite
Sketch
Invision

Languages

English
Chinese (Mandarin)
Spanish

Programming

Python
Java
SQL
HTML/CSS
Git

Interests

Professional

Product Design
User Interface
User Experience
Product Management

Personal

Snowboarding
Traveling
Tennis
Video Games
Cooking
TV & Movies

Education

University of California, Berkeley

Bachelor of Arts, Computer Science and Statistics
August 2016 — May 2020

Relevant Coursework

Structure and Interpretation of Programs (CS61A)
Data Structures (CS61B)
Discrete Mathematics (CS70)

Projects

myTurn

Creating the self-checkout experience for businesses and users of the renting and lending software.

Sboon

Designing a better spoon for regular consumption through user research, lo-fi/hi-fi prototypes, and user testing.

Browse

A prototype design of a browser extension simplifying the online shopping experience for the elderly and technically challenged

Experience

Berkeley Innovation

Design Consultant
January 2017 — Present

Crafting human-centered design solutions for companies through an iterative thinking processes of inspiration, ideation, and implementation.

Associated Students of the University of California

Software Engineer
August 2016 — January 2017

Engineer for the University of California, Berkeley campus resources app on iOS and Android. Features dining information, building hours, and bus directions with live bus tracking. Published on the App Store and Play Store.

Berkeley Technology Review

Software Engineer
August 2016 — January 2017

Engineer for the University of California, Berkeley's online, student-run technology publication. Currently in development of iOS and Android mobile apps.